680 Boys At Boy Scout Camporee

36 TROOPS PARTICIPATE IN THREE-DAY CONCLAVE

Some 680 Boy Scouts comprising 36 Troops, attended the annual three-day Camporee of the Summer Trails Council in Gray- the camping layout and equipling, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Grayling Winter Sports land, of Grayling, chairman of park was in perfect shape to receive the young visitors and as E Butler, of Grayling, head of early as Thursday afternoon the business committee; Luther there were troops arriving and Lamb, of Bad Axe, head of the setting up tents. By Saturday the commissioners staff; and chairplace was a regular tented village with the army of scouts busy with camp activities. They came from five districts with 15 full troops and their leaders from the Bay district. Troops from Pigeon, Bad Axe and Vassar represented the Thumb district Prescott, West Branch, Rose City, Gaylord, Vanderbilt and Grayling represented the Northwest district and the Lakeshore district had troops from Alpena, Curran, Harrisville and Oscoda. There were three troops from Midland district with other troops from that vicinity. Some of them arrived by automobile, while others came in buses chartered

As each Troop arrived they registered at one of the buildings at the park, that was set up into an administration building. There they were directed to camp sites were staked out the day previous and then camp life began in earnest with the boys busy pitching tents and doing the many other duties required. Scouts cooked their own meals in the open and although the weather was very inclement during all three days the fellows didn't seem to mind it.

Friday after the evening meal a campfire was held with a program consisting of stunts put or by the troops from each of the five districts. Many people from Grayling drove out to watch the evening's performance.

Saturday morning at 9 o'clock memorial services were held for Francis A. (Jerry) Reagan, whose grave is in Elmwood cemetery The 680 scouts headed by Gray-American Legion Drum & Bugle corps and the School band marched to the cemetery. This was a beautiful sight and there Following the business sess of a large crowd of citizens joined golf and contract were in play. them. Francis Reagan was a Mrs. Emil Giegling had the former scout executive of the high score for contract and Mrs. Summer Trails Council; during Wm. Hill the low score for his life he gave much of his time golf. to the service of youth and was i well known in scouting circles. A marker as a token of tribute was placed on his grave, and Charles Moore of Grayling gave a beautiful eulogy, portraying his un-selfish service to boys. "Jerry" as he was familiarly known, was born in Bay City on March 4, 1892 and his boyhood was spent there and later the family came to Grayling where he graduated from Grayling High school. He had seen active service in the U. S. Army during the World War, following which he steadily failed in health until he passed away in 1936 following an operation. While the scouts were in town that morning many availed themselves of visits to the Hartwick Pines and others to Gray ling Fish Hatchery.

Featuring the campfire program Saturday evening was the awarding of Eagle badges, scout ing's highest honor, to William N.
Smith of Troop No. 5 and Jack Hopcroft. of Troop No. 22, both of Bay Citv. Also highlighting the evening was the "March of Boyhood" pageant, with all troops participating. The pageant was closed with a huge formation of the scouts and all singing the Star Spangled Banner, with the Grayling High School band fur-nishing the music.

Sunday morning a church service was held in camp and later several truckloads of boys attended church in Grayling. After preparing their own dinner the boys began to break camp and each camp was inspected and camping certificates awarded. In the afternoon Boy Scout troop No. 22, of Bay City was awarded the gold trophy for the best work in all phases of camp life. This completed the three-day Campone of the Suppose Their Comp oree of the Summer Trails Council in Grayling, until 1940 when the Camporee will be held in Alpena on invitation by the Alpena

Late in the afternoon the boys loaded their tents and equipment on the trucks and buses and started for their homes, all having enjoyed the three days together, despite the cold weather Friday and Saturday. A few suf-fered stomach aches from over-indulgence in hot dogs and pop but the general health of the crew was excellent. Much credit for the splendid arrangements and organizing the affair goes to the committees and their leaders.

Capt. Walter A. Maxwell, USMC, commander of Camp Hartwick Pines, was general chairman of all committees, and was aided by the following chairmen: Bernard Schwerdt, of Camp Hartwick Pines, was chairman of ment committee; Herbert Row-

The Fireworks Law

*

It is the general belief that youngsters and older folks, too, may legally send outside the state, procure firecrackers and other fireworks and then be allowed to shoot them. That is not the case. Here is that section of the Michigan laws covering the sale and use of "Any person who shall offer for sale, expose for "Any person who shall offer for sale, expose for sale or sell a retail, give, furnish, use, explode, or cause to explode, any firecracker, torpedo, skyrocket, Roman candle, Daygo bomb, or other fireworks of like construction or any fireworks containing any explosive or inflammable compound, or other device commonly used and sold as fireworks, containing nitrates, chlorates, etc., shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

That is the law. It was enacted because every year scores of boys and girls were killed and maimed and hundreds were seriously burned by fireworks. Another factor was that millions of dollars in damage in this state alone was annually caused by fireworks. The law was not passed to spoil the fun of children. Year after year the fireworks manufacturers increased the ex-plosive power of their products. Year by year they became more dangerous.

Yes, those of us now in our sedate forties used to have a lot of fun with firecrackers, but the fun we had surely didn't compensate for the fingers and eyes lost by our playmates. Modern children who have so much by our playmates. Modern children who have so much done for them in the way of recreation should be willing to obey the fireworks law. Parents who can remember the old days of blasted fingers, singed eyebrows, lockjaw cases and fires should be more than willing to insist that the law be obeyed. And the law is that fireworks can not be sold or given away in Michigan, and can not be used except on special permits for special occasions.—Ingham County News, Mason.

Indians' Honey Bee Was Called White Man's Fly

The honey bee is not native to the United States, but was introduced here 300 years ago. Ther: was no word for honey bee in the American Indian language and bees became known to the Indians as the white man's fly, relates a writer in the Chicago Tribune.

Authorities say that honey bees were introduced into New England in 1638 and that they likely were brought from Holland. These first bees were of the small type, commonly called black bees. They are common, but are not so popular among beekeepers as the larger kinds, such as Italian bees.

The fact that wild honey bees have been found in hollow trees and in caves in widely scattered areas of this country during the last 300 years has led to the popular belief that they are native. But those fa-miliar with the history of the honey bee say that the first wild ones in America were swarms that left their hives in New England apiaries and flew off into the woods. As civilization spread westward across the country the honey bee went with it and often preceded the settlers.

Beekeepers refer to the different kinds of honey bees as races rather than breeds or varieties. There are many races and they are divided roughly into three groups, the Eastern, the European, and the African.
The race most often found in apiaries in this country is the Italian. These bees first were brought to America shortly before the Civil war. They are found wherever beekeeping is practiced commercially and are considered by a majority of keepers as the best of all races. They are credited with being easy to handle, good honey producers, and more resistant than other races to disease, especially European foul-

Britain's Constitution

Not Like That of U. S. Great Britain does have a consti-tution, but it in no way corresponds to ours. It is mainly unwritten and customary, but its development is marked by certain outstanding and fundamental laws, the principal ones of which are the following: The Magna Charta, adopted in 1215, which secured annual parliaments and the equal administration The Habeas Corpus Act, adopted in 1679, securing the liberty of the person: The Act of Settlement, in 1701, providing for the Protestant succession to the throne;

The Act of Union with Scotland, The Act of Union with Ireland; 1800;

The Parliament Act of 1911, which enabled the commons to pass certain acts without the concurrence of the other chamber; The Government of Ireland Act, 1920, and the Irish Free State (Agreement) Act of 1922;

The Westminster Act. 1931, bringing to an end the control once exercised by parliament over the Do-minions, and recognizing their equality of status with the British government and cabinet.

The constituent parts of the British constitution describe the sovereign, the legislative, the executive and judiciary.

Canada's Postal Service

Canada's first postal service dates back to the French regime, when letters of the governor and the intendant were carried by an appointed messenger, who was also permitted to carry mail intrusted to him by private persons. The fee allowed the messenger by the intendant commission was 10 sous for letter between Quebec and real, and 5 sous to Three Rivers, with proportionate charges for greater or shorter distances. The first of these couriers was Pierre de Silva, known as "the Portuguese" who received his commission from Raudot, the intendant, in 1705. When Canada came under British rule the first regular postal service was established in 1763 by Benjamin Franklin, then deputy postmaster who opened a post office at Quebec with subordinate offices at Three Rivers and Montreal.

Airport Notes

We are very sorry that our club has side-slipped a little on our news. The three boys picked to write our club news will be going into a tailspin if they don't write more news.

Two of the members have soloed, Menno Corwin and Tom Welsh. Instructor Hilton said that there are some more about ready to sprout their wings and solo. More power and less bumps to them-

Our night school has a very good attendance and the boys are learning something about navigation, we hope.

There has been a number of private ships stopping at the Grayling Airport.

Major Anderson and Major Mc-Kinney flew to Grayling in a new National Guard ship, that being one of the new North American observers. There will be five or six of these ships at the airport during the National Guard en campment.

A plane flown by Mr. Commings stopped in at the airport

Hilton and one of his students flew down the AuSable river last Wednesday to snap a few pictures of a canoe party composed of the Sneakers Club.

Franklin Soults was in Traverse City writing and flying his test for a student certificate.

Here are a few pointers and a bit of advice for each member of the flying club while at home: DON'T Groundloop out of a bathtub. Tailspin off a ladder. Power dive down stairs. Take off from a banana peeling. Sideslip out of a chair. Taxi into an oncoming car

Bridge Grafting of Trees The art of bridge grafting of trees was taught to man by nature. Natural bridge grafting is seldom seen in trees. Artificial grafting of trees is one of the oldest arts of plant-craft. Early writers say that grafting of plants once was held as a professional secret. For many years artificial bridge grafting has been successfully practiced to save trees girdled by rodents or injured by that he knew of a County superintendent of schools who was touring his country district; he wrote on the black-board: "L-XXX" and asked a young Miss in the class what it meant, and she replied: "Love and kisses." Do you know that flies and mosquitos are the means of spreading more disease than any other means? Fly time is here again and with it comes these pests. How are your screens?

Crude Oil Is Nature's

Most Complex Mixture Petroleum—orude oil—which is the raw material of the oil industry, is one of the most complex mixtures found in nature. It consists principally of thousands of different hydrocarbons, compounds of hydrogen and carbon. There are a smalldition to the two basic elements.

The hydrocarbons are a sort of chemical stepping stone between the inorganic world and the complex organic substances that form living matter. Carbon has the property of linking its atoms with each other and with other elements in an infinite variety of forms. The simplest hydrocarbon is methane, a gas. It consists of four hydrogen atoms tied to a single atom of carseph Ator in the Chicago Tribune, other compounds appear in which the carbon atoms are united in chains or rings or in more complex combinations of these two forms. Some of the waxes found in petroleum contain as many as 125,000 atoms in a single molecule, and artificial rubber, a petroleum prod-uct, is believed to have half a million of these building blocks of matter in a molecule

In general the lightest hydrocarbons, those with the simplest molecules, are gases, those somewhat more complex are liquids, and the heavier and more complex molecules form solids at ordinary temperature. In crude petroleum the light gases and heavy solids are dissolved in liquid components of the mixture.

Fishing The Big Ones After Dark

Dutch word meaning spots.

It is time we fished for the big ones Now the nights are getting warm, While the caddis and the May flies Are on the river in a swarm

So today we boost our tackle To a night-cast good and strong That will hold a brown trout Or a rainbow, two feet long.

Then, when the sun is sinking,
It is time for us to go
Down past the rapid water
To where the current is deep and slow.

Grease the fly and light a stogie, Smell the fragrance in the air. Flit gun to drive away mosquitoes; Incidentally, all care.

Quiet night with moon a-rising
A big trout will fill the bill.
We hear the splash of a muskrat
And the call of the whippoorwill.

The rise of a trout in an eddy,
We carefully make a cast.
A strike and a jerk;
Our "squirrel tail's" made him fast.

A thrill we'll long remember

As the trout runs to and fro
For it must be that big one, At least a foot or so

When at last we have him landed, Our arm is 'most worn out. We light a stogie, crank our Johnson And carefully turn about.

On our homeward journey,
While we rest in perfect ease,
We watch the ripples on the water and the moonlight thru the trees.

What a night to dream and wonder
What could be better for a lark
Than to be on the stream in the moonlight
Catching the big ones after dark.
